VOL. XVIII. NO. 4

WRANGELL, ALASKA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1919

SALMON BREEDING RESERVES

Government Makes Limitations and Prohibitions in Addition to Restrictions Already Applicable.

Washington, December 28, 1918.
Mr. Ernest P. Walker, Inspector, Alaska Service, Wrangell, Alaska.

Transmitted herewith for your information is an advance copy of the regulations issued by the Secretary of Commerce under date of December 21, 1918, limiting fishing in the streams of southeastern Alaska.***

I. H. DUNLOP, Acting Commissioner.

Department of Commerce
Office of the Secretary
Washington

December 21, 1918.

To whom it may concern:

A hearing having been given at Seattle, Wash., Nov. 25, 1918, after due notice in accordance with law, for the purpose of determining the advisability of making salmon-breeding reserves of certain waters in Alaska, and all persons having had full opportunity to be heard, it is hereby ordered, by virtue of the authority vested in me by section 6 of "An Act for the protection and regulation of the fisheries of Alaska," approved June 26, 1906, that until further notice all fishing for salmon, or other fishing in the prosecution of which salmon are taken or injured, in all hereinafter described waters of southeastern Alaska east of the longitude of Cape Spencer, be and is hereby made subject to the following limitations and prohibitions in addition to the general restrictions already applicable by virtue of existing laws and regulations;

1. That fishing with all forms of apparatus is prohibited in all streams less than 500 feet in width at the mouth at mean low tide, and in all lakes and other waters tributary to such streams.

2. That all fishing with purse seines and drift gill nets and all other movable fishing appliances, other than set nets and beach seines is prohibited within 200 yards outside the mouth at mean low tide of all streams less than 500 feet in width at their mouth, except at the mouths of the Chilkat and Chilkoot rivers, where the prohibited distance for all fishing appliances shall be 500 yards.

3. That all fishing with traps, stake nets and other fixed fishing appliances, and set nets and beach seines is prohibited within 500 yards outside of the mouth at mean low tide of all streams less than 500 feet in width at their mouth. No exceptions will be made in favor of any fixed fishing appliances heretofore operated within the prohibited areas.

4. That the driving of salmon down stream and the causing of salmon to move outside the protected area at the mouth of any stream are expressly prohibited.

5. That this order does not supersede but supplements sections 3 and 4 of the order promulgated by the Secretary of Commerce on

NEWLYWEDS IN TOWN

John D. Helps, the Alaska representative of the Standard Oil company, accompanied by Mrs. Helps, arrived in Wrangell last Thursday on the City of Seattle. Mr. Helps' visit to Wrangell at this time is one in which business and pleasure are combined, for it is also a honeymoon trip. Mr. Helps was married in Juneau on January 4 to Miss Pearl Duncan. Mr. Helps is a Scoundrel, having been a prominent figure at Nome during the boom days of that camp. During his residence in Juneau he has become well known in Southeastern Alaska, and has scores of friends in this section. He stands high in the councils of two of the leading fraternal organizations. The bride, who before her marriage was Miss Pearl Duncan, came to Juneau from Porterville, California last September to teach in the Juneau Public school. In a short time she had made many friends in Juneau, but the Standard Oil man wanted to be more than a friend, and with the aid of Cupid he succeeded beautifully.

It is planned to build three barges of 600 barrels capacity to carry oil from Katalla to Cordova for the Chilkat Oil Co.

November 18, 1912, which respectively, prohibit all commercial fishing for salmon, or other fishing in the prosecution of which salmon are taken or injured "in Anan or Humpback Creek, its lagoon, lakes, and tributary waters, together with the region within 500 yards of the mouth of said creek," and "in Nahna stream, its lagoon, lakes, and tributary waters, above a line connecting the points known respectively as Loring Point and House Point." Likewise this order does not supersede but supplements the order promulgated by the Secretary of Commerce on October 25, 1915, which similarly prohibits fishing (a) "in all waters tributary to Barnes Lake, Prince of Wales Island," (b) "in Hetta Creek, its tributary waters, and the region within 500 yards of the mouth of said creek," and (c) "in Sockeye Creek, its tributary Boca de Quadra ha'chery waters, and the region within 500 yards of the mouth of said creek."

This order becomes effective January 1, 1919.

WILLIAM C. REDFIELD, Secretary.

DATA TO ACCOMPANY SOUTHEASTERN ALASKA ORDER

The foregoing special regulations do not supersede or in any way lessen the effect of, the general fisheries laws. Among other matters in this connection it seems appropriate to direct attention more particularly to the following:

1. The laying or setting of movable nets of any kind within 100 yards (300 feet) of any other fishing appliance is unlawful.

2. A weekly close season is prescribed by law and must be observed from 6 p. m. of Saturday to 6 a. m. of the Monday following.

3. Under a recent amendment of the general regulation affecting the marking of fishing gear, it is now required that there be displayed in a conspicuous place on all stake nets and set nets, as well as on pound nets or traps, the name of the person, company, or corporation owning, operating or using the same.

4. As soon as practicable notices will be posted to indicate the extent of the waters closed to fishing at the mouth of each stream. The absence of such notices, however, will not relieve any person or persons from full responsibility of fishing within the prohibited area.

H. M. SMITH, Commissioner of Fisheries.

OSCAR CASE WRITES AGAIN FROM FRANCE

Is Now In Army of Occupation—May Not Be Home This Year

Bouillonville, France, December 8, 1918.

Dear Mother and Dad:

The morning you folks were rejoicing because the war was over we were all cussing because it ended just when it did. We were going to attack the Hindenburg line on the morning of November 11. We were all ready to go over when we got an order to hold up for a couple of hours. At about 9:30 a. m. a runner came up with the news that the armistice would be signed at 11 a. m. Talk about a "sore" bunch, you ought to have seen our boys about that time. Well, I suppose it was all for the best.

After the signing of the armistice we were put in the Third Army, Sixth Army corps, along with the Second Division and three others. We are in the Army of Occupation and will occupy Luxemburg. So I guess it will be next fall before we leave this frog eating country.

We have been here in Bouillonville since the 27th ult. Before that we were living in old German dugouts taken in the September drive, near Pout-a-Moson. We are at present only three miles from Thiaucourt in the Toul sector. You can look these towns up on the map and see where I have been for the past few months.

Three more of our men were blown up yesterday by German mines while unloading them.

I sent you the label for my Christmas package more than two months ago, but as you make no mention of having received it I suppose my letter miscarried.

We received the news of the Princess Sophia wreck the day it happened. A full account was published in the Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune. I get quite a bit of Alaska news out of the Tribune. The Red Cross auto throws newspapers out along the road every morning. The Red Cross and the Salvation Army are the only philanthropic outfits over here that are any good.

I was very sorry to learn of the death of Paul Stanhope. We had a few cases of the flu here, but the epidemic did not amount to much in this section.

We do not get any more rain since the war is over. I guess the heavy explosions must have caused it to rain so copiously. It is dreadfully quiet around here since the big guns quit firing so much. We almost miss the flashes from them at night. Of course we are all glad that the war is over, but we had gotten so used to the noise and excitement that we miss it. We have not been back to a populated town since we first came up to the front but we have been in dozens of them that were all shot up.

A few days after the armistice was signed a fellow came here who had never been up to the lines before. I sold him a German spiked helmet for 300 francs ($60.00). What do you think of him for a "sucker?"

I don't believe I ever told you that we were cited for bravery on the way over. It is said that

WM. BERGER INJURED

Wm. Berger was the victim of a painful accident last Friday afternoon. Mr. Berger was driving a wagon that was loaded with lumber almost twice the length of the wagon. When turning a corner the load became unbalanced and kicked up in front, throwing Mr. Berger upwards several feet. He fell with considerable force on his shoulder which caused internal injury. Dr. Brown was summoned, and upon examining the patient found it necessary to transfer him to the hospital. Mr. Berger's condition is much improved today and his early recovery is now confidently expected.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S PARTY

"Bachelors' Bungalow" Scene of Pleasant Gathering on Saturday Evening

A. Jakobitz and Oscar Wickstrom were hosts at a young people's party at their home on Church street Saturday evening. When the two gentlemen above named rented Ole Johnson's beautiful bungalow it was not known just what use they intended to make of it, but it was not long until their hospitality had made it the most popular place in the immediate neighborhood.

On Saturday evening the "Bachelors' Bungalow" was lit up brighter than usual, and it was learned that another little party was in progress. Music, dancing, and games formed the amusement. During the evening delectable refreshments were served. It was getting rather late when the affair came to a close. Those invited were:

Misses Florence Billon, Irene Coulter, Anne O'Connor, Mae Armstrong, Gussie Leonard, Helen Hofstad, Elsie Seeley, June Elliott, Alma Allender, Olive La Bounty.

Messrs. Thor Hofstad, Louis Lemieux, Ned Lemieux, Carl Carlson, Ed LaBounty, Wallace Sinclair, Alfred Royalty, Lloyd Dalgity, A. Jakobitz, Harry Mortimer, Oscar Wickstrom, and Mr. and Mrs. John Berg.

A Valdez man has been reading up on the raising of ostriches and intends to go into bird farming on an extensive scale on one of the islands of the lower sound. He argues that cold weather will make the feathers heavier and the plumes more beautiful. He will probably have to equip each bird with snowshoes and a parka.

we were in the biggest submarine fight of the war. According to the reports we were attacked by 14 subs. Our destroyers got three of them.

Will have to finish this letter another time as "lights out" just blew. Good night. Oscar.

Bouillonville, December 11, 1918.

Dear Mother and Dad:

Two of our companies left today for Essey, so I guess we will move soon. Since writing the foregoing letter I went back to a little town to buy some grub for six of us. I paid 120 francs ($24) for ten dozen eggs. A pound of butter cost me the equivalent of $2, and I paid the equivalent of $4 for a dozen candles. Everything else was priced proportionately. What do you think of that for the H. C. of L.?

With love to all the folks, and hoping to be home some time, I remain, as ever,

Your loving son,
OSCAR

OF LOCAL INTEREST

Col. B. O. Lenoir, officer in charge Signal Corps, United States Army, Washington Alaska Military Cable and Telegraph system, arrived in Wrangell on the Princess Mary. The colonel is in Alaska on a tour of inspection. He left for Petersburg yesterday afternoon on the Virginia II, G. H. Tozier captain.

The publisher of the Sentinel this week received a letter from Sergeant C. L. Wheaton who is still at Camp Dodge. He states that he is the only Wrangell man left at Camp Dodge as all the others have been transferred to Camp Grant. He says it is very quiet at Camp Dodge on account of the intensely cold weather. He also states that it is generally believed that his division (the 19th) will soon be demobilized.

Since our soldier boys can not all return at once it is certainly good to have them returning one by one every week or two. David Daily returned on the City of Seattle from Fort Seward where he has been since his enlistment. His many friends were glad to welcome him home.

G. S. Chapin, superintendent for the Karheen Packing company, arrived in Wrangell on the Glenora yesterday. Mr. Chapin will leave for California tonight on the Princess Mary. He will return north about the middle of April.

Mrs. H. Gartley will be a southbound passenger on the Princess Sophia tonight. She will return in a few weeks in company with Mr. Gartley who is now in Seattle on a business trip.

For Sale—A bed. Inquire at the Sentinel office.

Mrs. J. W. Stedman is recovering from a week's illness.

Miss Liberty Worden is recovering from her recent illness.

Ed Grigwire's dandruff treatment is the best on the market. Try it and be convinced.

W. H. Warren, vice-president of the Bank of Alaska, was in the bank Monday for the first time this year. He is recovering from the flu.

Glenn Diemart received a cow on the City of Seattle which cost him $235 f. o. b. Skagway.

The Princess Mary called at this port Tuesday morning being the first mail Wrangell has had in ten days.

Elmer Carlstrom has charge of the store of the Thlinget Trading company while Ole Johnson, the proprietor, is in Ketchikan attending court.

The Moose lodge will have two initiations at its meeting tomorrow (Friday) night.

Oscar Wickstrom is now employed in the mercantile establishment of Chas. Benjamin.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Barnes will leave for the States on the Princess Mary tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Webster have made reservations on the Princess Mary which sails south tonight. Mr. Webster was formerly owner of the Craig sawmill.

For the shave and haircut of satisfaction go to Ed Grigwire's shop, opposite drug store.

A. B. DANCE WAS A HUGE SUCCESS

Good Crowd—Good Music—Good Eats Good Night

The Arctic Brotherhood dance last evening was a huge success. There was a large attendance, delightful music, and a much that was a joy.

Very few people were present in the role of spectators. The North Star orchestra furnished such delightful music that the tributes of those who went "just to look on" would not remain still.

Colonel Mason acted as floor manager. He was full of pep and discharged his task with as much wit and skill as an old timer at the business.

E. J. LaBounty was chairman of the reception committee. He greeted the guests as they arrived and told them good-bye as they departed.

It was a gay affair from start to finish, and if the Sentinel should publish all the interesting little occurrences that took place during the evening there would be no room for anything else in this issue.

The committee in charge of the successful affair was composed of Colonel Mason and Arnt Sorset.

Journalistic Relics

Through the kindness of Miss Woods the publisher of the Sentinel was this week privileged to look over a collection of old newspapers, some of them more than half a century old, and relics of days when type composition was done with much more care than it is today.

Probably the most interesting paper in the collection was a copy of the Western Episcopalian, published at Gambier, Ohio, September 26, 1861. This paper was probably preserved at first on account of an obituary of Lorin Andrews, LL. D., president of Kenyon college, and colonel of the Fourth Ohio regiment of Volunteers. The paper is a model of typography, and indicates as much care as if the printers had been working on a text-book or setting up the statutes of Massachusetts in a Boston printing office. Small capitals and italics are used freely and the paper has such a dignified appearance that one would naturally expect to find its contents well worth reading. From a journalistic point of view it may be said that the paper is exceptionally well edited and a splendid example of literary excellence.

The latest paper in the collection was a copy of the Yamhill County Republican, published at McMinnville, Oregon, September 18, 1896. The paper contains a long article by the Hon. M. C. George in which he attempted to dissect Governor Penoyer. This paper shows that newspaper style has undergone some changes in the past 25 years.

Lester C. Keeley, one of the boys at the U. S. cable office at Cordova recently went out the line and had an encounter with a goat in the mountains back of Mile 7 in which the goat came off second best. He says it took four men to carry the animal in.

THE ROLL CALL OF FAMILIES

(Douglas Island News)

The polite question to ask your friends when you meet them now is, "Have you had the flu yet?" If they say yes, then you must ask what they took for it. If you have had it, you must describe your symptoms to them and they will retaliate by telling you how they felt. The one who can describe the most painful symptoms is the winner of the contest and the game is finished until two meet.

The folks have not got the flu just bad colds—but they have some awful symptoms and can make the hair stand when they describe them. But of course they disclaim having influenza. As far as that goes, we can hardly see what difference it makes whether it is a bad cold or flu, as long as you are good and sick.

We hesitate to mention the names of those who are sick or have been sick with the epidemic for fear we may slight some one and hurt their feelings. This would be bad, for it is bad enough to have the flu without being slighted when the roll of the "I Had It Club" is called.

On account of the uncertainty of economic and political conditions in Siberia this year, few Alaska miners and trappers have crossed the Bering sea to take minerals and furs from the Asiatic lands. In other years many Alaskans, most of them from Nome, and the Seward Peninsula, have gone into the Siberian country around the Gulf of Anadir. Nome is only about 150 miles from the Siberian coast. Small trading vessels ply across the Bering sea and along the Siberian coast, but up such a big business as the fur trade has not been carried on for the establishment of a custom house on the Siberian coast, probably at East Cape.

The Best Omen.

Let the best omen be our country's cause.—Homer.

R. E. Burns & Co. of Nenana has been awarded a contract for the supply of 5000 tons of lignite coal of good quality for the use of the Alaskan Engineering Commission, the contract going into effect immediately. The coal vein which the company has tapped is situated approximately from 600 to 1000 feet in a westerly direction from Station No. 17435 on the right of way.

SAD DAYS FOR SUGAR LOVERS

Sweet Substance Is Doled Out in Niggardly Fashion by Order of the Food Administrator.

If you are well acquainted with the Virginians, you know how irresistible is their love for sugar. No F. F. V. will accept less than two spoonfuls in his coffee unless he should be entertaining Mr. Hoover or some other one of those dour and mathematical Washingtonians.

So it was a day or two ago that Assistant Food Administrator Maltbie was traveling in the diner with Administrator Sproul of Virginia, and the waiter served canteloupe.

"Here, waiter," said Mr. Sproul, "a little sugar with the canteloupe, please. I like it that way."

"Sorry, suh," said the waiter, "but the gov'ment done 'ministrated again' it. No sugar for nothing, suh, except cereal and also coffee, if you ask for it."

"Well," said Mr. Sproul, "you haven't brought me any sugar for my coffee. Bring it and I will put some on my melon."

The waiter nodded, hurried out, returned and laid the sugar at Mr. Sproul's plate. It was lump sugar.

Such are the newest of the food administration regulations. The sugar bowls have been banished from the dining cars, and no sugar is served to any diner, except for his cereal. He can have lump sugar for his coffee if he asks for it.

Sugar for cereals will be served in small envelopes, and it is necessary to make that much do. Nobody—not even a food administrator—gets more than that.—Baltimore News.

DOING GOOD WORK IN FRANCE

American Girls Giving Real Aid to the Unfortunate Inhabitants of the Devastated Area.

There is in France at the present time a number of girls from an American college who are performing relief work of a unique kind. They have taken upon themselves the functions of peddlers, ragpickers and hucksters in the villages over which the battle wave has ebbed. Every girl is trained in social service, and they travel about with stores of tinware, pots, pans, clothing and farm implements. The "peddlers" also sell milk, chickens, rabbits and goats. Another service they are trying to render, to reduce costs and foster trade, is the opening up of a chain of grocery stores. In nearly every hamlet are peasants who had little shops before the war, but who have now neither the capital nor the courage to start afresh. To them the "peddlers" sell staple produce below cost price, usually on the installment system. The "peddlers" have done a good service toward recreating the conditions of village life in the devastated land.

SEVEN-LEAGUE BOOTS.

Except for flanged wheels, the new railway skates are much like the ordinary roller skates, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. They are intended for sporting purposes and also as aids to the individual who is, more or less, dependent upon his legs for long-distance transportation. To enable one to maintain equilibrium while making successive strokes, a balancing rod is provided. This is shaped somewhat like the handle of a scythe and is equipped at its outer end with a flanged roller that is held to the opposite rail. Fair speed without undue exertion is easily maintained on a level track.

WE PREFER A REPUBLIC.

"I can't say that a paternalistic form of government, as exemplified by the central powers, strikes me as being an unqualified success."

"What's the idea?"
"The idea now seems to be to grab all the food for the rich and to give the poor a permit to eat anything they can get."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HOOVERIZING.

Mistress—We must conserve, No-rah. Not a bit of food must be wasted.

Cook—Not a bit is, mum. Officer Kerrigan calls here every evening and sees to all that.

A DISGUSTED HUSB.

"So you're goin' to work," said Meandering Mike.

"You bet I am," replied Plodding Pete. "The I. W. W. has took all the dignity out o' loafin'."

NATIONAL HABITS CHANGE.

Variances Shown in the Articles of Hardware Called For.

Few things are more illustrative of the great changes going on in the social and economic life of the nation than the changes in the use of the things of the hardware business. Nowadays the story of sanitation and cleanliness is reflected in the fact that every little hardware store in every village carries a line of bathroom fixtures, since both small town people and farmers are freely given to the use of running water.

The growing use of the modern coal oil stove, the kitchen sink and the increasing demand for pipe fixtures and plumbing appliances tell of the revolt of the overworked housewife in rural districts for the comforts and conveniences of the kitchen. The increasing demand for the electrical iron and the washing machine hints at the wornout patience of the laundress on blue Mondays, so that these labor saving devices may make her lot easier and increase her comfort.

The falling off in the sale of foot scrapers indicates the prevalence of good roads and concrete sidewalks. Even the growing demand for coat and trousers hangers confirms the general observation of a better dressed and neater people.

Edge tools nowadays must not only have quality, but style as well, since carpenters and mechanics are growing in intelligent appreciation. The steadily decreasing sale of bowie knives and revolvers hints at the passing of the bully and the "bad man" in all save the slums of the congested centers.

The fast spreading intelligent cultivation of great fruit and garden truck areas finds echo in the steadily swelling sales of tree pruners, garden tools and spraying machines, while the growth in pleasure loving assemblies and social functions is told in the eager demand for casseroles, coffee percolators, silverware and all the decorative appurtenances of the table.—New York Times.

Needed the Money Badly.

A newspaper man of Washington was approached one morning by a friend who wanted to borrow $5. The newspaper man, assuming an expression of great sorrow, pulled 20 cents out of his pocket and remarked:

"I'm sorry, old man, but you've struck me just before pay day, and I'm broke."

Having made this crafty excuse, he, mentally speaking, pinned a gold medal on himself for having evaded the prospective borrower.

"When is your pay day?" asked the friend.

"Tomorrow afternoon," replied the newspaper man.

"All right," said the friend, "I'll come around then."

Peculiar Table Customs.

In a book entitled "Domestic Manners of the Middle Ages" we are told that in those days dinner tables were covered by a "nappe," or tablecloth. Upon it were placed a saltcellar and bread and eggs for wine, but no knives or plates. The reason for the absence of the knives arose from the common practice in vogue of people carrying their own knives in a sheath attached to their girdle. In an early work written by Lydgate, "Rules For Behavior at Table," the guests are told to bring no knives unaccompanied to the table, which can only mean that each one was to keep his own knife—that is, the one he carried with him—clean.

Something Good.

"Dear," said a young wife to her husband as he was leaving for the office, "won't you bring home something good for dinner this evening?"

"Something good?" repeated the bewildered young husband, to whom marketing was a closed book.

"Yes," repeated the wife, "something really good, you know."

"Oh, yes!" he replied as a light seemed to break upon him.

And he brought home the rainwater.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Meeting of the Waters.

From Oct. 31 to Nov. 4, 1840, in France the Saone poured its waters into the Rhone, broke its banks, covered 60,000 acres and immersed a number of cities and villages. Six hundred and eighteen houses were carried away and many lives sacrificed. It was the first time in 238 years that the Saone had risen so high.

Printing in Tibet.

In many of the monasteries of Tibet and Siberia the Buddhist monks still print in the manner which has been handed from generation to generation. Movable type is not used, but each page is carved upon a solid wood block, and thus whenever a new book is printed entirely fresh blocks have to be made.

CROPS NOT FOR AUSTRIANS

Italians Will Gather Harvest From Seed Sown by the Soldiers of Emperor Karl.

The Austrians in their retreat from the Piave abandoned not only materials of war but also their harvests. The possessive pronoun is used advisedly.

Last winter they sowed grain in their conquered territory during the abundance of spare time they had when there was little fighting. They watched the crop come up and grow to swift maturity under the kindly Italian sun. They watered at the mouth in anticipation of enjoying summer feasts of white bread, so long denied them.

They had almost forgotten that the land was not their very own. They had no expectation that the real owner would return to claim the harvest; on the other hand they were looking enviously at the smiling fields further on.

Suddenly they had to quit the soil and its yield. When the order for the retreat was given and discipline was relaxed the soldiers, fleeing, snatched off the heads of the grain and filled their haversacks. Prisoners say the scene reminded them of passages in the Bible which tell of the men of Holy Writ going through the fields and rubbing out the kernels between their palms to eat them raw.

THE MODERN MINSTREL

The poet's lay may be all right,
To some it seems a crime,
For downright usefulness I'll take
The hen's lay every time.

SUN MAKES SOUVENIRS.

Don't pin on the insignia of your sweetheart who is fighting in the trenches; let Old Sol do it. The girls here who are eager to keep about them some souvenir of the man they love who is fighting in France, are adopting a new fad at Coney this summer. They are cutting pieces of court plaster into the shape of the insignia worn on the khaki tunics of their sweethearts and, sticking these designs over their hearts or on their shoulders. Then they sit in the sun until they are tanned. When the court plaster is removed there is the design outlined in white, fixed for the rest of the summer. If you cannot get near the seashore, the roof will answer the same purpose.—New York Sun.

THE TRAMP'S BIT.

A Muncie woman noted for her philanthropy was approached by a novel kind of beggar the other day. He wished money instead of a "hand-out."

"What is your great need for money right now?" she asked, her hand on her open purse. "Are you hungry?"

"No, lady, it ain't that so much," he explained, "but I gotta do my bit buyin' Thrift stamps."—Indianapolis News.

A SOLDIER'S DREAM.

"I had a great dream last night," said the private as the last note of reveille died out.

"What was it?" asked the wagoner as he drew on his socks.

"I dreamed that we had finished our job of whipping the Germans," returned the private, "and General Pershing said, 'Sergeant, dismiss the army.'"

WHY SHE MOURNED.

Mrs. Flatbush—Who is the service flag in your window for?

Mrs. Bensonhurst—My only son. "Oh, indeed! And did he enlist or was he drafted?"

"I don't know just what you'd call it, but the poor boy never did a stroke of work in his life, and now the judge has made him go to work."

NEW DISCOVERIES

St. Philip's Church
Jan. 19, at 7:30 p. m.

A half century ago there were only three or four ancient manuscripts of the New Testament that scholars knew about. One was kept in the Vatican, one was found at Alexandria, and another was found in an old monastery at Mount Sinai. Lately, fragments of over 650 ancient manuscripts have been discovered, and also a large mass of literature which throws light upon a lot of the hard places in the New Testament has been discovered.

At the service Sunday evening at St. Philip's church a few of these important discoveries will be described, and they will all go to confirm the view that the historical value of the statements of the New Testament are unimpeachable.

Christianity demands the utmost liberty of thinking and discussion. So come, and be prepared to ask questions, and form conclusions if you are at all in doubt.

Latouche is now a city of about 400 people. It has a modern schoolhouse, with two teachers and 40 pupils. A well equipped hospital with a doctor and two nurses in attendance, a club house with reading rooms, billiard and pool tables, a bowling alley, a fine dance hall and a movie show. Latouche also boasts a night school due to the enterprise of the school teachers. The night school is well patronized. Mine and mill are running full shifts and it is said that production in the last few months has been higher than it has ever been since the mill was erected.

Taku Straits was a floating mass of bergs recently. Old timers stated that they never saw so much ice in the water at this time of year. One mariner said it resembled the floe ice near Nome.

NEURALGIC PAINS

Give Way to Soothing Hamlin's Wizard Oil

Hamlin's Wizard Oil is a safe and effective treatment for headache and neuralgia. Rubbed in where the pain is, it acts as a tonic to the tortured nerves and almost invariably brings quick relief.

Its healing, antiseptic qualities can always be relied upon to prevent infection, or other serious results, from sprains, bruises, cuts, burns, bites and stings. Just as good, too, for sore feet, stiff neck, frost bites, cold sores and canker sores.

Get it from druggists for 30 cents. If not satisfied return the bottle and get your money back.

Ever constipated or have sick headache? Just try Wizard Liver Whips, pleasant little pink pills, 30 cents. Guaranteed.

Redmen Install

On Tuesday evening the Redmen's lodge installed the following officers for the ensuing year: Sachem—W. H. Warren

Senior Sagamore—M. O. Johnson

Junior Sagamore—Oscar Wickstrom

Prophet—Charles Borch

Chief of Records—L. M. Churchill

Collector of Wampum—P. C. McCormack

Keeper of Wampum—J. E. Worden

Past Sachem Worden acted as installing officer.

The lodge is in excellent financial condition. During the past year it loaned Uncle Sam $2,000, and is the proud possessor of liberty bonds in that amount.

Important

All firemen are urged to be present at the next regular meeting to be held at 8 o'clock in the town hall on the evening of the first Monday in February.

By order of the Fire Committee.

J. H. Smith, of Anchorage, was arrested at that place recently for having beaver skins in his possession, contrary to law. He was fined $75 and the skins confiscated.

SAVING THE FISH

Everyone is agreed that the food fish of Alaska, especially the salmon, is being depleted. But that is as far as the agreement goes. Regarding how fish can best be conserved, there is a wide difference of opinion, some of it honest, some of it mere camouflage to cover selfish interests, some of it mere political buncombe, and some of it discussion on the part of the ignorant of actual conditions. The gill netters blame the trappers, and the trappers say the gill netters are to blame for fishing out the streams. The territory wants to handle the question and so do the federal bureau chiefs and employees of the Fisheries Department, and they all have ideas of how it should be done. Congressmen at Washington are bombarded from all sides, and when Alaska fish is mentioned they can hardly be blamed for being "fish shy."

One thing alone is certain—unless something is done and is done quickly, there will be a serious depletion in the salmon supply in Alaska. The best immediate remedy is to protect the spawning streams, and to see that trap regulations for allowing the fish to escape on certain days are also rigidly enforced.

Meantime, since both the Territory and the Government are interested in the conservation of fish, they both should appoint a joint commission of capable and practical men to make a thorough study of the situation for the guidance of Congress and the Territory for future laws. Neither Congress nor the Territorial Legislature can legislate from an unprejudiced and capable source. The less laws there are passed until that information is forthcoming, the better. Moreover, Alaska does not believe that the Government will ever turn over to the Territory of Alaska full control of the fisheries. It will at least want to continue as a partner in the business. The present trouble with Government supervision is that a few scattered gas boats try to cover thousands of miles of water, and their approach to where there may be unlawful practices is like trying to hunt big game with a brass band. Practically all of the cannerymen themselves are earnest advocates of conserving the fish, in theory, but the way it works out in practice is that "each fellow wants to see his neighbor do it first."—Alaska Magazine.

Six cross fox skins valued at $100 each were recently exhibited at Whitehorse. The pelts were from eight-months' old foxes that were raised in captivity at the head of Lake Labarge. The foxes when but a few days old were captured near Whitehorse.

"Broad-brimmed hats of the ladies arriving on the train this morning furnished little protection from the cold and several were frost-bitten before reaching the various hotels."—Seward Gateway. A frost-bitten broad-brimmed hat must be a pitiful sight.

A large whale-canning plant was established this year at Akutan, near Dutch Harbor, and 500 tons of whale meat were shipped east and west by this plant in the first year of operation. The meat, which looks and tastes like round steak, according to those who favor its production, is put up in tins like other meats. The company operates its own cold storage ship, which cost $150,000.

There are a great number of commercial fox farms along the Alaskan coast, the largest probably being in Prince William Sound, where one farmer has nearly 5000 foxes. Five to 700 skins are shipped yearly from this ranch. Black fox skins are very valuable, ranging in price from $600 to $1000. In 1900, a black fox skin sold at auction in London for $2,754. Blue foxes range in price from $25 to $50.

The Kodiak, a steam whaler, bagged 11 whales this summer near Akutan. The vessels' crew killed 29 blue whales, 8 sperms, 74 finbacks and a number of humpbacks during the season. The Uimak, another vessel of the same company bagged 87; The Tanginak 42 and the Pater-son 78. The vessels all operated in the Bering sea near Uimak pass. The largest whale was 89 feet long and weighed nearly 80 tons. One of the officers of the Kodiak received over $3,000 for his lay.

A special patrol of the mounted police recently left Dawson for Fort MacPherson for the mouth of the Mackenzie river, with masks and medicines to combat the flu epidemic. It is reported that several native districts in the Arctic have been depopulated by the disease.

Crowd the Front Pews. Advertise Your Belief. Go to Church.

WHEN you GO TO CHURCH Sunday MARCH RIGHT UP TO THE FRONT PEWS. Don't take a seat in the rear of the church. In many churches some worshippers make for the rear pews as if they were ashamed to be seen. Is there anything dishonorable in being seen in church? If you go to a theater you are proud to be seen in the front rows. CROWD THE FRONT PEWS OF THE CHURCH.

THERE CERTAINLY IS NOTHING UNMANLY IN GOING TO CHURCH. RATHER IS IT A SIGN OF STRENGTH OF CHARACTER. PILLARS OF THE CHURCH GENERALLY ARE PILLARS OF BUSINESS. ADVERTISE THE FACT THAT YOU GO TO CHURCH. IT PAYS YOU SPIRITUALLY. IT PAYS YOU MATERIALLY. THE CHURCH ENVIRONMENT HELPS THE BUSINESS ENVIRONMENT. THE CHURCH TEACHING HELPS EVERY MAN TO THINK CLEARLY AND TO THINK CORRECTLY. THE CHURCH COMMANDMENTS ARE ONLY THE COMMANDMENTS OF HEALTH AND MIND.

Statistics show that communities with the greater number of churches are prosperous. The people, as a whole, are HAPPY AND CONTENT. If you have neglected going to church, don't let another Sunday pass without making a visit to the house of God.

God is forgiving. He is patient. But his patience may be exhausted if a man continually ignores him. You IGNORE AND OFFEND GOD when you stay away from church. You like to see your children GO TO CHURCH and Sunday school. The children will be DOUBLY IMPRESSED with the importance of attending church if they see the father in church.

GO TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY.
